

USING AI

TO SEARCH THE SCRIPTURES

AI might sound like something out of science fiction, but it's quickly becoming a real part of everyday life, including how we study, work, and communicate. For Christians, this isn't something to fear, it's a tool we can learn to use wisely and redemptively. Think of AI like a digital assistant that can help you dig deeper into Scripture, prepare for conversations about faith, or explore biblical topics more efficiently. The key is knowing how to ask the right questions. That's why we've put together a list of helpful prompts you can try out. Give them a shot and see how AI can support your walk with God, your ministry, and your ability to live out your faith in today's world.

Word of Warning

While AI can be a helpful tool for studying the Bible, Christians should use it with discernment. AI doesn't have the Holy Spirit, and it can sometimes reflect cultural biases, secular interpretations, or theological perspectives that don't align with Scripture. It may also pull from a mix of sources—some solid, some questionable—so it's important to compare everything against God's Word. Always read the Bible for yourself, pray for wisdom, and use AI as a supplement, not a substitute, for Spirit-led study and biblical community.
